Job Summary

We use data every day in our lives – quite possibly we couldn't imagine living without it. Massive amounts of data are generated every minute and it has to reside somewhere. With decades of experience working with globally integrated infrastructure, Black & Veatch can serve as a single point of contact for Clients' data center facilities. From evaluation, planning, and turnkey design-build service, to attracting anchor clients and optimizing long-term operating performance – we have your data requirements covered. Our civil, mechanical, electrical, and construction professionals worldwide bring localized knowledge of designing, building and permitting associated infrastructure.

The Construction Project Manager position at Black and Veatch would be responsible for all aspects of small to medium Engineering Procurement Construction or Design Build(EPC)/Service projects, including risk to cost, schedule, quality. They oversee the successful execution of contracted engineering, procurement, and construction scope in the areas of performance, financial metrics, planning, schedule, quality, contractual compliance, safety, and client satisfaction. Provides for the successful staffing of the project. This position manages and leads medium sized teams of multi-discipline professionals, as well as coordinates and integrates the activities associated with the engineering, procurement, construction, and startup elements of the project team, including the activities of all third-party companies contributing to the initiative.

As a member of the Commercial team you would have the opportunity to work with the industry's leading professionals. Many of our data center professionals have been recognized with the Accredited Tier Designer certification from The Uptime Institute, the IT industry's most trusted and adopted global standard for the proper design, build and operation of data centers. The Uptime Institute focuses on improving the redundancy, performance and efficiency of data center infrastructure.
